

A WORSHIP MINUTE

I think that we can all too easily lose the profound sense of reverence and awe that God so rightly deserves.

We often make God small without even realizing it.

We too easily become comfortable with our understanding of God and thereby minimize His goodness, beauty, and truth.

If we truly consider all that God has done, we soon realize that God is so far beyond our comprehension; He is so grand and marvellous!

The book of Job certainly helps to put things into perspective, especially chapters 38-41.

The book of Job can be tough reading but it also yields great rewards.

As we consider the majesty of God and the glory of God books like Job drive home just how big, and powerful, and wise, God truly is.

- What are some of the words you would use to describe God?
- What are your favourite images of God?
- How do you feel when you read Job 38?
- How would you describe the tone of God in the book of Job?
- Are you uncomfortable with God's tone and attitude in Job 38 and the book of Job in general, if so why?

May our journey in faith continue to be enriched as we consider all of scripture; including those parts that challenge us and inspire to think more deeply about the nature and character of God and His great and saving love for us.
